The first system of musical notation consists of two staves (treble and bass clefs). The treble staff has a treble clef and the bass staff has a bass clef. The first measure contains a treble note on the second line and a bass note on the second space. An arrow points from the treble note to the right, labeled 'up', and another arrow points from the bass note to the right, labeled 'down'. A plus sign is between the two notes. The second measure contains two treble notes on the second and third lines, and one bass note on the second space. A plus sign is between the two treble notes and another plus sign is between the treble and bass notes. The third measure contains two treble notes on the second and third lines, and one bass note on the second space. A plus sign is between the two treble notes and another plus sign is between the treble and bass notes. The fourth measure contains two treble notes on the second and third lines, and one bass note on the second space. A plus sign is between the two treble notes and another plus sign is between the treble and bass notes. The fifth measure contains two treble notes on the second and third lines, and one bass note on the second space. A plus sign is between the two treble notes and another plus sign is between the treble and bass notes. A '3' is written below the first measure.
